We Do Not Go Up. He Comes Down.

What Scripture actually says about death, the grave, the resurrection, and the New Jerusalem

A teaching handout for study, marking, and sharing.
Scripture from the World English Bible, divine name rendered YHWH, Elohim, and Adonai.

THE HEART OF IT

Scripture never promises the righteous a trip to heaven at death. It promises sleep in the grave, a resurrection at the trumpet, and a city that comes down out of heaven to a renewed earth. The dead are not somewhere else. They are waiting for a voice.

“For David didn’t ascend into the heavens.”
ACTS 2:34

SECTION I

The Question Almost Nobody Checks

Stand at enough funerals and you will hear the same sentence every time. He is in a better place. She is looking down on us. At least they are home now. Nobody asks where that sentence came from. It is said with real love, by people who mean well, and it passes for settled truth because it has been repeated for so long.

But we do not measure teaching by how familiar it sounds. We measure it by the text.

> "Now these were more noble than those in Thessalonica, in that they received the word with all readiness of mind, examining the Scriptures daily to see whether these things were so."
>
> Acts 17:11

So let us do that. Not with one verse pulled out of a chapter, but with the whole witness, from Genesis to Revelation, checked against itself. What follows is every major passage on death, the grave, and the hope of the righteous, laid side by side.

What you will find is that Scripture has an answer, it gives that answer over and over, and it is not the answer most of us were handed.

SECTION II

What Man Is, Not What Man Has

Everything downstream depends on this verse, so we start here.

> "YHWH Elohim formed man from the dust of the ground, and breathed into his nostrils the breath of life; and man became a living soul."
>
> Genesis 2:7

Read what it says. Man did not receive a soul. Man became one. The Hebrew is nephesh chayyah, a living being. It is dust plus breath. Take the breath away and there is no third thing left over that walks off on its own.

And that same phrase is not reserved for people. Scripture uses nephesh chayyah of the fish, the birds, the cattle, and the creeping things in Genesis 1:20, 1:21, 1:24, 1:30, and again in Genesis 2:19. If nephesh meant a deathless spark that survives on its own, then every sparrow has one.

Scripture is also willing to say something our tradition will not say. Souls die.

> "Behold, all souls are mine; the soul of the father, as well as the soul of the son, is mine. The soul who sins, he shall die."
>
> Ezekiel 18:4, see also 18:20

HOLD THIS

The idea of an immortal soul that leaves the body and flies off at death is not taught in Genesis 2:7. It has to be brought to Genesis 2:7 from somewhere else.

SECTION III

What Death Is: Genesis 2:7 Run Backward

If life is dust plus breath, then death is exactly the undoing of that.

> "before the dust returns to the earth as it was, and the spirit returns to Elohim who gave it."
>
> Ecclesiastes 12:7

Notice carefully what this verse does and does not say. The ruach, the breath of life, goes back to the one who lent it. That is Genesis 2:7 in reverse. The verse does not say the person travels to the throne of Elohim. It says the loan is returned.

And Solomon will not let us make that breath into something unique to man:

> "For that which happens to the sons of men happens to animals. Even one thing happens to them. As the one dies, so the other dies. Yes, they have all one breath… All go to one place. All are from the dust, and all turn to dust again."
>
> Ecclesiastes 3:19-20

> "You take away their breath, they die and return to the dust."
> Psalm 104:29

This is not a sad accident of the fall that Scripture is embarrassed about. It is exactly the sentence pronounced in the garden: you are dust, and to dust you shall return (Genesis 3:19). Not you are dust, and to heaven you shall go.

SECTION IV

Yahshua's Own Word for Death: Sleep

If you want to know what death is, take the word from the mouth of the one who conquered it. He calls it sleep, and when they misunderstand him, he makes it plain.

> "Our friend Lazarus has fallen asleep, but I am going so that I may awake him out of sleep." … "Then Yahshua said to them plainly, 'Lazarus is dead.'"
>
> John 11:11, 11:14

Now look at what is missing from that chapter. Lazarus was four days dead. He comes out of the tomb, and he reports nothing. No light, no tunnel, no reunion, no throne. Not one word. And Yahshua never once apologizes for calling a man back down out of glory, which is what he would have been doing if Lazarus had been in glory.

That word sleep is not a one-time comfort. It is the standing vocabulary of Scripture for the condition of the dead:

- "Many of those who sleep in the dust of the earth will awake." Daniel 12:2
- The bodies of the saints who had fallen asleep were raised. Matthew 27:52
- Stephen, under the stones, fell asleep. Acts 7:60

- David served his generation, fell asleep, was laid with his fathers, and saw decay. Acts 13:36
- Paul uses it five times in one chapter on resurrection. 1 Corinthians 15:6, 15:18, 15:20, 15:51
- The grieving Thessalonians are told about "those who have fallen asleep." 1 Thessalonians 4:13-15
- Job: man lies down and does not rise until the heavens are no more. Job 14:12

Sleep is the word because it fits the expectation. You do not stay asleep. You wake up. And the waking has a date on it, which we come to in Section IX.

SECTION V

Where the Dead Are: Four Words, Not One

Much of the confusion on this subject is a translation problem. Older English Bibles poured four very different words into one bucket and called it hell. Keep them separate and the picture clears immediately.

| Word | What it actually is |
|---|---|
| SheolHebrew, about 65 times | The grave, the pit, the common state of the dead. Righteous men expect to go there. Jacob says he will go down to sheol mourning (Genesis 37:35). Job asks to be hidden there (Job 14:13). It is a grave, not a furnace. |
| HadesGreek | The Greek equivalent of sheol, used the same way. Yahshua's own soul was in hades and was not left there (Psalm 16:10, Acts 2:27, 2:31). It is emptied and then destroyed (Revelation 20:13-14). |
| GehennaGreek, from the valley of Hinnom | The real valley outside Jerusalem, used as the picture of final judgment. This is lake of fire and second death language (Matthew 10:28, Mark 9:43-48). It is future, and it comes after the resurrection and the judgment, not at the moment of death. |
| TartarooGreek, used once | Used of the angels who sinned, not of men at all (2 Peter 2:4). |

So the plain, unembarrassed answer to the question where do we go when we die is this: to sheol, the grave, asleep, waiting. Not to heaven, and not to a fire. Those are both later chapters of the story, and they are opposite ends of it.

> NOTICE WHAT THIS DOES TO THE FEAR
> If hades is the grave and gehenna is the future judgment, then nobody is being tormented right now. That is not softness. That is what the words mean.

SECTION VI

The Dead Are Not Awake

This is the heaviest block of testimony in the whole study, and it is almost never read out loud. Take it slowly. Every one of these is written by a man who loved YHWH.

> “For the living know that they will die, but the dead don’t know anything, neither do they have any more a reward; for their memory is forgotten. Also their love, their hatred, and their envy has perished.”
>
> Ecclesiastes 9:5-6

> “there is no work, nor plan, nor knowledge, nor wisdom, in Sheol.”
>
> Ecclesiastes 9:10

> “For in death there is no memory of you. In Sheol, who shall give you thanks?”
>
> Psalm 6:5

> “The dead don’t praise YAH, neither any who go down into silence.”
>
> Psalm 115:17

> “His spirit departs, and he returns to the earth. In that very day, his thoughts perish.”
>
> Psalm 146:4

And the same testimony again, in other voices:

- Do you show wonders to the dead? Is your loving kindness declared in the grave, or your faithfulness in destruction? Psalm 88:10-12
- Hezekiah, spared from dying: sheol cannot praise you, death cannot celebrate you, the living are the ones who praise. Isaiah 38:18-19
- In death the small and the great are alike and the weary are at rest. Job 3:11-19
- Man lies down and does not rise until the heavens are no more. Job 14:10-12
- Job’s own expectation: if I wait, sheol is my house, I have made my bed in the darkness. Job 17:13-16

Now put this next to the funeral sentence. If the righteous dead are awake right now, conscious in heaven, worshipping and watching us, then every verse above is simply false. That is the size of the problem. This is not a small preference between two views. One of them makes these Scriptures lie.

THE HONEST QUESTION TO SIT WITH

Why would Scripture say the dead know nothing, praise nothing, and have no more reward, if the best part of a believer’s existence begins the second he stops breathing?

SECTION VII

No One Has Ascended

Here is the plainest statement in the New Testament on the subject, and it is preached by Peter, at Shavuot, to a crowd standing within walking distance of the tomb he is talking about.

> “Brothers, I may tell you freely of the patriarch David, that he both died and was buried, and his tomb is with us to this day.” … “For David didn’t ascend into the heavens.”
>
> Acts 2:29, 2:34

David. The man after YHWH’s own heart. The writer of half the Psalms. A thousand years in the ground at the time Peter is speaking. And Peter’s argument requires that David is still in that tomb, because the whole point is that the resurrection Psalm 16 speaks of belongs to Yahshua and not to David.

> “No one has ascended into heaven but he who descended out of heaven, the Son of Man.”
>
> John 3:13

And then Hebrews, which takes the entire hall of faith, Abel through the prophets, and says something that ought to stop us cold:

> “These all died in faith, not having received the promises.” … “These all, having had good testimony through their faith, didn’t receive the promise, Elohim having provided something better concerning us, so that apart from us they should not be made perfect.”
>
> Hebrews 11:13, 11:39-40

Abraham has not received. Moses has not received. David has not received. And the reason given is that they are not going to be made complete without us. Nobody collects early. The whole household is brought in together, on one day, and that day has not happened yet.

SECTION VIII

Immortality Is Given, Not Owned

This is the piece that locks the whole teaching, and it is the piece that usually goes unmentioned.

> “who alone has immortality, dwelling in unapproachable light.”
>
> 1 Timothy 6:16

Alone. Not who gave immortality to every soul he ever made. If we already had it, Paul could not have written that sentence. And watch when we get it:

> “For this corruptible must become incorruptible, and this mortal must put on immortality.”
>
> 1 Corinthians 15:53

You put on what you do not already have, and Paul says that happens at the last trumpet, two verses earlier. Romans 2:7 says we seek for immortality, and nobody seeks what is already in his pocket. Eternal life is called a gift, not a possession we were born holding (Romans 6:23).

Then there is the garden itself. Why was man driven out and the way to the tree of life guarded?

> “Now, lest he reach out his hand, and also take of the tree of life, and eat, and live forever…”
>
> Genesis 3:22

If man already carried an immortal soul, guarding that tree accomplished nothing. The guard only makes sense if living forever was exactly what man did not have.

SO WHERE IS OUR LIFE KEPT IN THE MEANTIME?

"For you died, and your life is hidden with Messiah in Elohim. When Messiah, our life, is revealed, then you will also be revealed with him in glory." Colossians 3:3-4.

Hidden now. Revealed when he is revealed. That is the whole pattern in one place.

SECTION IX

The Hope Is the Resurrection, Not Dying

Here is the test. When Scripture comforts grieving believers, what does it actually say? If the dead go straight to glory, then the comfort writes itself: they are already there. Paul never once says that. Watch what he says instead.

> "For the Adonai himself will descend from heaven with a shout, with the voice of the archangel and with Elohim's trumpet. The dead in Messiah will rise first, then we who are alive, who are left, will be caught up together with them in the clouds, to meet the Adonai in the air."
> 1 Thessalonians 4:16-17

Everything hangs on the small words. Will rise. Future. First. Before the living are changed. Together with them. One event, one day, both groups. If the dead in Messiah were already with him in heaven, the word first has nothing to do, the descent is pointless, and the comfort Paul offers is not the comfort he actually writes. He tells them to comfort one another with the resurrection (verse 18), because that is the hope.

> "But each in his own order: Messiah the first fruits, then those who are Messiah's at his coming."
>
> 1 Corinthians 15:23

At his coming. Not at our going. Yahshua himself repeats the timing four separate times in one chapter, and he never varies it:

- "I will raise him up at the last day." John 6:39, 6:40, 6:44, 6:54
- All who are in the tombs will hear his voice and come out. John 5:28-29
- Martha: "I know that he will rise again in the resurrection at the last day." She had the timing right, and Yahshua did not correct her. John 11:24
- Repaid at the resurrection of the righteous. Luke 14:14
- In my flesh I will see Eloah. Job 19:25-27
- The crown is given "at that day," not at the graveside. 2 Timothy 4:8
- "Behold, I come quickly. My reward is with me." Revelation 22:12

And there is one more verse worth reading very carefully, because it is often quoted for the opposite of what it says:

> "to an incorruptible and undefiled inheritance that doesn't fade away, reserved in heaven for you, who by the power of Elohim are guarded through faith for a salvation ready to be revealed in the last time."
>
> 1 Peter 1:4-5

The inheritance is kept in heaven for you. You are not kept in heaven with it. It is stored there, and it is revealed at the last time. Same with treasure laid up in heaven in Matthew 6:20. Stored there, delivered here. Which brings us to the address.

SECTION X

Where It All Lands: The Earth

Ask most believers where the redeemed spend eternity and they will point up. Revelation points down.

> "I saw the holy city, New Jerusalem, coming down out of heaven from Elohim, prepared like a bride adorned for her husband. I heard a loud voice out of heaven saying, 'Behold, Elohim's dwelling is with people. He will dwell with them, and they will be his people.'"
>
> Revelation 21:2-3

Read the direction of travel. The city comes down. Elohim moves in with us. There is no verse anywhere in the chapter about the redeemed moving up to live in the sky. The tabernacle language is deliberate: he has always wanted to dwell in the middle of his people, from the wilderness tent forward, and this is that promise finished.

The witnesses line up, and they are not subtle:

- "the New Jerusalem, which comes down out of heaven from my Elohim." Revelation 3:12
- Made to be a kingdom and priests, "and they reign on the earth." Revelation 5:10
- "Blessed are the gentle, for they shall inherit the earth." Matthew 5:5, quoting Psalm 37:11
- The righteous inherit the land and dwell in it forever. Psalm 37:9, 37:22, 37:29
- New heavens and a new earth, with people building houses and planting vineyards and living in them. Isaiah 65:17-25
- The new heavens and the new earth will remain, and so will your offspring. Isaiah 66:22
- "we look for new heavens and a new earth, in which righteousness dwells." 2 Peter 3:13
- The saints possess the kingdom under the whole heaven. Daniel 7:18, 7:22, 7:27
- "The kingdom of the world has become the Kingdom of our Adonai." Revelation 11:15
- His feet stand on the Mount of Olives, and YHWH is King over all the earth. Zechariah 14:4, 14:9
- He formed the earth to be inhabited. Isaiah 45:18

Even paradise relocates. The tree of life is in the paradise of Elohim (Revelation 2:7), and Revelation 22:2 shows us exactly where the tree of life ends up: growing on both sides of the river, inside the city, on the new earth. Paradise is not our permanent address in the sky. Paradise is coming here.

SAY IT IN ONE LINE

The plan was never evacuation. It was restoration. YHWH is not abandoning the creation he called good. He is renewing it, and moving in.

SECTION XI

When Does It Happen: The Order of Events

Scripture does not give us a date, but it does give us an order, and the order is where most teaching gets blurred. Revelation 20 comes before Revelation 21 for a reason.

| Step | What happens, and where it is written |
|---|---|
| 1 | Tribulation runs its course, then the sign of the Son of Man appears and every eye sees him. Matthew 24:29-30, Acts 1:11, Revelation 19:11-16 |
| 2 | The trumpet sounds. The dead in Messiah are raised, the living are changed into glorified bodies, all gathered together to him. Matthew 24:31, 1 Thessalonians 4:16-17, 1 Corinthians 15:51-54 |
| 3 | This is named the first resurrection, and those in it are priests who reign with Messiah a thousand years. Revelation 20:4-6 |
| 4 | The rest of the dead do not live again until the thousand years are finished. They are still asleep through the entire reign. Revelation 20:5 |
| 5 | Satan is released, the final rebellion is gathered and consumed. Revelation 20:7-10 |
| 6 | The great white throne. The rest of the dead are raised and judged. Death and hades are emptied and thrown into the lake of fire. Revelation 20:11-15 |
| 7 | Then the new heaven and new earth, and the New Jerusalem descends. Revelation 21:1-5 |

THE DETAIL MOST TEACHINGS MISS

The city does not come down when Yahshua returns. It comes down after the thousand years and after the final judgment. The resurrection is step two. The New Jerusalem is step seven. Get that order right and the whole picture stops fighting itself.

As for the date, we hold the line Yahshua drew:

> “But no one knows of that day and hour, not even the angels of heaven, but my Father only.”
>
> Matthew 24:36

Peter asked about times and seasons and was told it was not his to know (Acts 1:7). We are told to watch, not to calculate (Mark 13:32-33). Teach the sequence with confidence. Refuse the date with the same confidence.

SECTION XII

The Hard Passages, Answered Honestly

A teaching that only shows you its best verses is not worth trusting. Here are the passages that get raised against this, handled straight, including the places where the argument is strong and the places where it is not.

1. The thief: “today you will be with me in Paradise.” Luke 23:43

The internal problem comes first, and it needs no Greek at all. Yahshua was not in paradise that day. He said he would be three days and three nights in the heart of the earth (Matthew 12:40), and on the first day of the week he told Mary, “I have not yet ascended to the Father” (John 20:17). Whatever the promise meant, it did not mean the two of them arrived that afternoon. Many also point out that the Greek manuscripts carry no punctuation, so the comma is a translator’s choice, and “I tell you today, you will be with me in Paradise” is grammatically available and matches a common Hebrew way of speaking (Deuteronomy 4:26, 8:19, 30:18). That reading is legitimate, but it is a minority one and scholars are genuinely divided on it. Lead with John 20:17, which does not depend on where anyone puts a comma.

2. “Absent from the body, present with the Adonai.” 2 Corinthians 5:1-8

Read the context and not just verse 8. Paul says in verse 4 that he does not want to be unclothed, but clothed upon, “that what is mortal may be swallowed up by life.” That is the same language as 1 Corinthians 15:53-54, and it is resurrection language. The “building from Elohim, a house not made with hands” is the glorified body, not a waiting room. Said plainly: this is the strongest passage against the position, and honest readers do take verse 8 as a conscious state between death and resurrection. Give your reading, admit theirs exists, and let Acts 2:34 and Hebrews 11:39-40 carry the weight instead of resting the whole case here.

3. “To depart and be with Messiah.” Philippians 1:21-24

If death is sleep, then the next conscious moment after dying is the resurrection, with nothing experienced in between. From Paul’s own vantage point, departing simply is being with Messiah. And the rest of the same letter shows he was not expecting to skip anything: he waits for “the day of Yahshua Messiah” (1:6), he strains to attain to the resurrection from the dead (3:11), and he expects his body to be changed when the Savior comes from heaven (3:20-21).

4. The rich man and Lazarus. Luke 16:19-31

It sits in a long run of parables through Luke 15 and 16 and uses imagery his hearers already knew. Look at the details: the rich man has eyes, a tongue, and a finger, and Lazarus has a body to be carried. That is not a disembodied soul, so a literal reading does not actually deliver the doctrine people want from it. Abraham’s bosom is not heaven either. And the parable states its own point in the last verse: they will not be persuaded even if someone rises from the dead. That is the lesson, and it landed on the Pharisees who were loving money and rejecting Moses. Note fairly that some hold this to be a real account, so present this as your reading and show your work.

5. The souls under the altar. Revelation 6:9-11

Compare Genesis 4:10, where Abel’s blood cries out from the ground. No one thinks Abel’s blood was conscious and talking. It is the language of a cry for justice. And notice what they are told in verse 11: rest a little longer, until the number is complete. That is waiting language, not reward language, in the middle of a book of visions and symbols.

6. The medium at Endor. 1 Samuel 28

Whatever came up, it came up out of the earth, not down from heaven, and it came through a practice Torah forbids on pain of death. Isaiah 8:19-20 tells us exactly how to weigh an answer obtained that way: to the Torah and to the testimony.

7. Moses and Elijah on the mountain. Matthew 17:1-9

Yahshua himself names what it was. In verse 9 he calls it a vision. It also follows directly on Matthew 16:28, where he promised some standing there would see the Son of Man coming in his kingdom before they died. It is a preview of the kingdom, shown as a vision, not a report on where two men currently live.

8. Enoch and Elijah

Be careful here, and be honest: this is the weakest point in the argument, not the strongest. Both shamayim and ouranos cover the sky, the stars, and the throne of Elohim, which is why Paul has to specify a "third heaven" in 2 Corinthians 12:2. Elijah was taken up in a whirlwind (2 Kings 2:11), and 2 Chronicles 21:12 records a letter arriving from Elijah to Jehoram, which is used to argue he was relocated rather than carried to the throne. That argument depends on a chronology that is disputed. Enoch was translated so that he should not see death (Hebrews 11:5), and eight verses later Hebrews 11:13 says these all died in faith. Nobody has a tidy answer to that tension. Hold this as an open question rather than a proof. The position does not need Enoch and Elijah to stand, because it rests on Acts 2:34, John 3:13, and Hebrews 11:39-40.

9. "The spirits of just men made perfect." Hebrews 12:22-23

Read it with Hebrews 11:40 three verses earlier, where the just are explicitly not yet made perfect apart from us. Hebrews 12 is describing what believers have come to in covenant terms, listing Mount Zion, the heavenly Jerusalem, countless angels, the assembly, and the blood of sprinkling, the same heavenly Jerusalem that Revelation 21 brings down. It is covenant standing, not a census of who is currently awake.

SECTION XIII

Why This Matters

This is not trivia for arguing in comment sections. It changes what you hope for and what you fear.

- It puts the resurrection back at the center. In Scripture the resurrection is the whole hope, the thing Paul was on trial for (Acts 23:6, 24:15). If everyone already goes to glory at death, the resurrection becomes a formality. It is not a formality. It is the promise.
- It kills a cruel fear. Nobody you loved is being tormented tonight, and nobody you loved is watching you struggle from a balcony. They are asleep. Safe, still, and held until a voice calls them.
- It cuts off the practices Torah forbids. If the dead know nothing, then there is nobody on the other end of a prayer to the dead, a seance, or a medium. Deuteronomy 18:10-12 and Isaiah 8:19-20 are not arbitrary rules. They are protection.
- It moves our eyes off our own departure and onto his return. The blessed hope in Titus 2:13 is his appearing, not our exit.
- It makes the earth matter. If we are all leaving, the ground under your feet is disposable. If he is coming here, then this creation is the inheritance, and the meek are going to get it.

WHERE THE STUDY LANDS

We do not go up to a city. The city comes down to us. Between here and there we sleep, and the last thing that happens before we open our eyes is a trumpet.

“Don’t marvel at this, for the hour comes in which all that are in the tombs will hear his voice and will come out.” John 5:28-29
